Mounting and customization

Front · Aligned rectangular bottles obscure the rear rail.

Side · The bottle carrier descends onto a rail hook behind the bottle.

Rear · Each bay has its own hook and recessed staff release.

Explore one rail family with single, double and triple bays. Lower a bottle and removable carrier onto a rear hook, then seat the underside catch. Authorized staff use a tool from below to release one bay and lift out its bottle. Validate independent release, secure locking, alignment, drainage, wipe access and safe refilling. Use the external bracket as the alternate engineering path.

The PEL Standard

Design around refillable packaging, responsible sourcing and guest experience. Reef safety guides PEL’s five completed amenity formulations. A definitive reef-safe claim requires product-specific aquatic evidence. Refer to the applicable product label or contact PEL for ingredient declarations and safety information.

Founding partners

Three founding-property opportunities are open for discussion. Share your room count, operating cadence, guest experience goals and fragrance preferences. Samples, timing, supply and other commercial terms are agreed during consultation.
